

Authors: Patrick, Adeline, Ayla, Tyler and James

Once there was a traveling preacher who was visiting Rome. His name was Bob. Bob was visiting Rome because he was a preacher so where better to be. But more importantly he had to pick up a package at the local clothing store. He and the president were the only two people on earth Who knew what was in it, or so they thought. Bob was told to pick up the package from the clothing store because the president told him that it contained a $100,000,000 check and it will help the world. He went to pick up the package at exactly 12:02 pm at the clothing store he picked up the package with no problems. That changed dramatically when he left. Bob was greeted from a figure in a black cloak and a black mask.

"Give me that check!" yelled the black cloaked figure.

"Never in a million years" replied Bob. Suddenly the black cloaked figure grabbed Bob and knocked him out for 20 seconds, then the black cloaked figure stole the check from Bob. After the thing that knocked Bob out, Bob tried to run to get the check back but the black cloaked figure was too fast for Bob. Bob sighed. He was very angry.

"I wonder why that weird person took away my check" He said Bob really wanted to get the check back, he knew he'd get in trouble so he called the police and The president and told him what had happened. But unfortunately, the president was very angry because Bob lost the check.

"The check is very important to the human race if it is stolen, it could cause world extinction and I need the check to install the laser and mail it to the scientists so they can blow up the asteroid, our way," said the president

"I will get the check soon but I don't have it now." said Bob

"All right. But do it soon." said the president.

The police were still there investigating the crime so Bob called him into his warm little hut and got the Black figure's name It was Frank. Bob went on his computer and a lot he found where Frank lived. Bob went there immediately. Bob knocked on the door then Frank answered

"Come on In" the police chief was right behind Bob.

When Bob was inside Frank's house the police chief snuck away and started looking for the $100,000,000 check. Finally the police found the check "Got it" the police chief said and ran away to the president. Bob ran to when they got there the president breathed a sigh of relief. They got the laser guns and sent them to the scientists. When the scientists received the laser beam was estimated to be 4ft wide and 4ft tall. The asteroid was coming in 5 minutes. It took the scientists 2 minutes and 30 seconds to get the laser in place. it took 1 minute to aim the lasers. They had 1 minute 25 seconds until world extinction. the president and Bob were freaking out now they were like AAUGHH!!! Even Frank had his belly doing backflips. This was all on the scientists was still in most of them were sweating with 1 minute left there was a major malfunction so everyone in the room was freaking out even more. With 15 seconds left, nothing happened but the asteroid was still in earth's radar. with 3 seconds left, the scientists blasted the asteroid into uranus. The earth was saved and everywhere in the world there was a celebration the scientists were famous and bob was named the man that saved the earth. THE END.